

were you busying yourself around about the garage, and did you see any of the Wilsons at the window or windows of their house?

A When do you mean?

Q I mean before you went to town, before you went to the post office in the morning?

A I couldn't say before I went to the post office or not. I couldn't tell you.

Q Well, you don't remember any greeting at all that you extended to them or they extended to you?

A Not before going to the post office; I know I spoke to them that morning several times, took them the fish that I had wrapped up and fixed for them and everything. After lunch which I imagine was fairly early, 12 o'clock or a few minutes within, maybe, I drove the Wilsons to Point Pleasant to take the train for New York or for Jersey City; they live in Jersey City. I left them at the station. In Point Pleasant I visited the U. S. Cigar Store where I talked to Ralph Borden, the proprietor from whom I bought my cigars, tobacco and fishing tackle. I don't say I bought any that day, but he is the man that I always bought it from.

Q Do you put in your supply of tobacco weekly or daily
